

Click to verify

Fans won't have to say "D'oh!" because The Simpsons is returning to Springfield for another season. Furthermore, the long-running animated series is not just coming back for one more season. For almost four decades now, the series has followed the family's lives in Springfield, with many guest stars and plenty of comedy. Read on for everything we know about the future of The Simpsons on Fox. For how many more seasons is The Simpsons renewed? As mentioned above, The Simpsons will return for Season 37. The announcement was made on April 2, 2025, along with the news of Seasons 38, 39, and 40, which will take the show up until the 2028-2029 season. The Simpsons is the longest-running animated show. "This historic four-season order from our longtime partners at FOX is truly monumental for these iconic animated series," 20th Television head Marci Proietto said in a statement. "We are so proud that these legendary shows will continue for hundreds of more episodes, allowing new and longstanding fans to watch, rewatch, and experience more of The Simpsons, Family Guy, American Dad, and Bob's Burgers for years to come." The four-season order will feature fewer episodes per year, reduced from 22 to 17. Of those, 15 will air on Fox, while two bonus episodes each season will be exclusive to Disney+. "We used to do 22 a year. For the next four [seasons], we're doing 17 a year," showrunner Matt Selman explained to Variety. "Fifteen that will premiere in America on Fox, and then two exclusives on Disney+. It's still a full-time job." When will The Simpsons Season 37 premiere? A premiere date has not yet been announced, but it is expected to premiere sometime in the fall like its previous seasons. Who is in The Simpsons cast? Related The cast of The Simpsons hasn't changed much in 37 seasons, so the cast regulars are expected to return to voice their beloved characters. These include Nancy Cartwright, Dan Castellaneta, Hank Azaria, Julie Kavner, Harry Shearer, and Yearley Smith, among others. Where can you watch The Simpsons? The Simpsons airs on Sundays at 8/7c on Fox. The Season 36 finale will air on May 18, for a total of 17 episodes. The beloved animated sitcom can also be streamed on Disney+ and Hulu. What could Season 37 be about? The sitcom follows a linear universe, which means that characters age slowly. The Simpsons might be up to their regular shenanigans including Homer fighting with their neighbor, Ned Flanders, Bart getting in trouble in school, Lisa getting straight A's, etc. The show also covers real-life topics, such as weight loss drugs, as featured in the April 6 episode. Is there a Simpsons Season 37 trailer? Not yet. The Simpsons, Sundays, 8/7c. Fox Cast & crewUser reviewsTriviaFAQTopTop-rated40 seasonsSee all4039383736353433323130292827262524232221201918171615141312111098765432137 yearsSee all2025202420232022202120202019201820172016201520142013201220112010200920082007200620052004200320022001200019991998199719961995199419931992199119901989Sign in to rate and Watchlist for personalized recommendationsSign inSuggest an edit or add missing contentBy what name was Simpsoni (1989) officially released in Germany?AnswerYou have no recently viewed pages Jā! Izskatās labi. Šķiet, ka trūkst tālāk norādīto datu valodās lv-LV vai en-US... Simpsons Wiki is a free encyclopedia for everything related to The Simpsons. The wiki allows anyone to create or edit any article, so everyone can contribute their knowledge to help create a decisive database of Simpsons information. The Simpsons (often shortened to Simpsons) is an American animated sitcom created by Matt Groening for the Fox Broadcasting Company. The main characters are a satire of a working-class family, consisting of Homer, Marge, Bart, Lisa, and Maggie. The series lampoons many aspects of American culture, society, politics, and history. Visit the Official Simpsons Website Season 36, Episode 18: Estranger Things TBA When Bart & Lisa stop watching Itchy & Scratchy together, Marge fears that they'll start to drift apart... but she has no idea how bad things are about to get! None at the moment. You may also see more upcoming episodes on the Unknown season. See more – Featured article Stefani Joanne Angelina Germanotta, better known as Lady Gaga, is an American singer well known for her eccentricity and odd costumes. She was voiced by her real-life counterpart in "Lisa Goes Gaga". One of these visions prompts her to stop by at Springfield when she realizes the town's civilians have low self-esteem. Gaga sings Monster to cheer everyone up, and the song reaches to everyone except a heavily-depressed Lisa. See more of this article – Featured episode "Working Mom" is the seventh episode of Season 30, being the 646th episode overall. Marge decides to become a tupperware saleswoman. She decides to ask people if they want to hold tupperware parties. After seeing that her attempts at sales are ignored, Marge lets Julio help her at her next tupperware party. Julio gives Marge a makeover, which makes all of the people invited think that she is a drag queen. Julio goes along with it, mentioning Marge as a man. After feeling like a liar, Marge stays conflicted about the sales then Julio shows her his alter-ego Penelope Cruising, who was Mr. Burns' date to attend the Kennedy Center Honors. Julio convinces Marge to stay a drag queen. See to read more of this episode – If you're having trouble with the site and don't understand how to use it, don't be afraid to ask! Our administrators won't bite. If you wish to join or have any queries about editing, then feel free to browse through our expansive tutorial: Help However, if the tutorials are too confusing, then feel free to message an administrator. Just leave a message on the talk page of an ACTIVE administrator, and we will be sure to help you as soon as possible. To contribute to the Simpsons Wiki, you are required to abide by our policies. Chat If you see this, your JavaScript might be disabled or DiscordIntegrator plugin isn't working. If the latter, please contact a wiki administrator. Channel 6 News See: News and announcements posts If you would like to become an affiliate, contact TheWarriorBeast890. Whether The Simpsons prophesied the Coldplay kiss cam scandal debacle nearly a decade ago has been a rapidly spreading online topic after a viral mishap at a Coldplay concert. The reply is no—there's no show in which The Simpsons explicitly foretells the Coldplay kiss cam scandal and the subsequent controversy. The rumors started when social media audiences shared photos and allegations implying that the veteran cartoon program had done the same scene years before the actual occurrence. These allegations were rapidly disproven by producers of the show and outside fact-checkers. At a Coldplay concert event at Gillette Stadium in Massachusetts, a popularly shared video caught Astronomer CEO Andy Byron and Chief People Officer Kristin Cabot sharing a warm moment on the kiss cam. Suspicion was raised when both appeared shocked and moved away as the camera zoomed in on them, and Coldplay's Chris Martin commented jokingly about a possible affair. Footage of the incident soon went viral on social media sites such as TikTok, X (formerly Twitter), and Instagram, which generated public outcry and professional repercussions for the individuals involved. Shortly afterward, reports surfaced online that The Simpsons had foretold the situation, but all evidence indicates that this is incorrect. The story illustrates how quickly pop culture rumors spread and how online material can blur reality and fiction. The Coldplay Concert incident Coldplay played at Gillette Stadium on July 16, 2025. When the audience's kiss cam caught a glimpse of Andy Byron, CEO of technology firm Astronomer, and Kristin Cabot, Chief People Officer for the company, they were both visibly caught off guard and instantly separated. Coldplay frontman Chris Martin had an immediate reaction via the microphone, saying "Either they're having an affair or they're very shy," as reported by several news sources. The incident generated a lot of attention on social media. Some wondered how Byron and Cabot were related. Some demanded company probes because of their senior positions. Byron was promptly put on leave and later resigned, and the company was faced with a change of leadership. The incident, which had been broadly called "ColdplayGate" on the internet, was a trending topic, not just because of the public scandal but because of the implications on workplace morals. The Simpsons prediction rumor Soon after the video became viral, photos started surfacing on social media with the assertion that The Simpsons had broadcast a virtually identical kiss cam moment years ago. Most of the posts referenced a so-called 2017 episode called "Kiss Kiss, Bang Bangalore," where Homer and Marge Simpson shared an uncomfortable hug during a stadium kiss cam. Numerous users pointed to this as proof of The Simpsons' prediction skills. According to multiple reports, memes and AI-generated screenshots spread far and wide, creating the illusion that the show had actually recreated the Coldplay concert controversy. But no such scene or episode ever existed in The Simpsons' vast history, the executive producers of the show, as well as independent verifiers, have claimed. Showrunner of the show, Al Jean, assured Mashable and other publications: "We write satire, not prophecy. Any similarity is pure luck." The speculation took off due to the quick transmission of memes and altered content on X and Instagram. People commonly used The Simpsons' past "predictions," as they have famously predicted several events before, but in this scenario, mass sharing of an AI-generated picture was to blame for spreading the myth.Social commentary by the public, cited by publications such as the Hindustan Times and Indy100, focuses on how the internet has the ability to connect references in pop culture to trending news events. The narrative illustrates how fast online society can produce and spread plausible fakes, impacting public opinion and discussion. Edited by Sroban Ghosh Winner of the 2019 Emmy® Award for Outstanding Animated Program, THE SIMPSONS continues to strike a chord with viewers for irreverently poking fun at anything and everything. With its subversive humor and delightful wit, the series has made an indelible imprint on American pop culture, and its family members - Homer (Dan Castellaneta), Marge (Julie Kavner), Bart (Nancy Cartwright), Lisa (Yearley Smith) and Maggie - are television icons. Already the longest-running scripted series in television history, the Emmy® Award-, Annie Award- and Peabody Award-winning animated comedy has surpassed Gunsmoke's record of the most episodes for a scripted primetime television series. THE SIMPSONS is a Gracie Films Production in association with 20th Century Fox Television. The series was created by Matt Groening and developed by James L. Brooks, Matt Groening and Sam Simon. James L. Brooks and Matt Groening are executive producers. Matt Selman and Al Jean also serve as executive producers and the series' showrunners.Release Date:1989 - 2024Genre:ComedyAnimationRating:Creator:Matt GroeningStarring:Dan CastellanetaJulie KavnerNancy CartwrightYearley SmithHank AzariaPamela Hayden

- https://aihr-iadh.org/uploads/FCK_files/file/36fe4a95-def9-4efd-ad8d-8ad5e1b117fb.pdf
- yixepivo
- reporting services installation
- https://baohohoanglong.com/userfiles/file/wodomakatugej.pdf
- can you make biscuits with bisquick pancake and waffle mix
- how to become assistant director fia
- http://n-production.com/upload/fckeditor/file/74518423472.pdf
- https://editionsitaliques.com/userfiles/file/3210dbef-8ba3-4d68-b0fe-1eb7482be450.pdf
- jiyemi
- how to change black and decker electric weed eater line
- zeki