Reazione importante, considerando il pessimo momento. 19:08 18:54 — Dopo cinque minuti di recupero Doveri fischia la fine di un primo tempo intenso e con tante emozioni. Milan a bocca asciutta dopo i due gol - Gimenez e Gabbia - annullati per fuorigioco dopo controllo Var, ma comunque creativo e pericoloso in chiave offensiva. Fase difensiva invece da rivedere per l'ennesima volta, di fronte a un Lecce abile a sfruttare le ripartenze e i numerosi varchi concessi dal Diavolo. Per Krstovic gol e palo. 18:01 — L'arbitro Doveri fischia l'inizio dell'incontro. Palla fra i piedi rossoneri. — La zona Champions è sfumata, ma per il Milan l'imperativo aziendale resta comunque la partecipazione europea nella prossima stagione. E quindi il mirino rossonero si sposta sull'Europa League, da raggiungere attraverso il piazzamento in campionato o la conquista della Coppa Italia. Restano però ampi nuvoloni neri su Milanello, tra giocatori in castigo, incontri ai vertici del club e un allenatore più che mai sull'orlo di una crisi di nervi. E dalla posizione in bilico, dal momento che il Milan arriva da tre sconfitte consecutive. Perdere anche a Lecce potrebbe rappresentare il capolinea per Conceicao. Sul versante pugliese, Giampaolo sotto sotto cova probabilmente il sottile piacere di vendicarsi - sportivamente, s'intende - del club che nell'autunno 2019 lo esonerò dopo sole sette partite. Al di là delle questioni personali, comunque, il Lecce - che è a sole tre lunghezze dalla zona retrocessione - ha assoluto bisogno di punti: nelle ultime quattro uscite ne sono arrivati soltanto due. Milan: tutte le notizie Serie A, tutte le notizie La Gazzetta dello Sport AC Milan are preparing to take on Lecce on Serie A matchday 28, scheduled for 8 March at 18:00 CET. The match will be played away at Stadio Ettore Giardiniero - Via del Mare. Sérgio Conceição's side will look for a positive result following their recent run of results, while Marco Giampaolo's side will look to make the most of their home advantage. The league is heating up and every point is becoming more and more crucial for the ambitions of both sides. We approach kick-off with our Match Preview. LATEST FROM MILANELLO It's currently the most difficult moment of the season for the Rossoneri, who arrive in Puglia coming off the back of three consecutive losses - each 2-1 - against Torino, Bologna and Lazio. The past week has marked the first full training week of 2025 (the first time without midweek commitments since the Christmas break) and the daily work at Milanello can help the team in reacting, in order to climb up the league standings and keep our European hopes alive. The loss at home to the Biancocelesti left behind the suspensions of Maignan and Pavlović (Sportiello and Gabbia will be replace him), but there is good news coming from the medical room: Florenzi is back with the group, Loftus-Cheek is close to returning. Coach Conceição spoke in his press conference, stating: "I am expecting a difficult game, but it's one we need to win. It is the way to get out of this difficult period. As a team, we have to do much more: we have to believe in ourselves and show this on the pitch. From the moment I arrived, we have played crucial matches, but it's now time to think about Lecce; the Coppa Italia is important, but not now. We've had a good week, I am happy with how the team has worked. The players are involved, the team is nearly back to full-strength with the return of Florenzi. We must never lack desire, I'll make my decisions in order to pick the best team". Read alsoCONCEIÇÃO: "TOUGH MATCH IN LECCE, BUT A MUST-WIN" LATEST FROM LECCE The Giallorossi come into the match following a series of contrasting results, with two narrow losses at home to Udinese and in Firenze against Fiorentina. In general, the Giallorossi did not score during February, with their last goals coming against Parma on 31 January: the home goal drought is longer, with the last goal coming in December against Lazio, courtesy of Tete Morente. Lecce will aim to make the most of their home support to get a good result, knowing that every point is crucial for survival. Giampaolo confirmed that Helgason and Krstović have fully recovered, and Banda will also be available. Coulibaly and Ramadani are in contention to start in midfield, with Marchwinski being the only player to miss the game. Musah will be the only AC Milan player at risk of suspension, with the Giallorossi have three players: Rafia, Ramadani and Pierotti. "I'm not going to analyse AC Milan's situation at home. I prepare for matches by reflecting on the current opponent, without evaluating internal dynamics and probable choices: we need to prepare for the match based on the team who played against Lazio, who have scored ten goals from eleven games", stated Marco Giampaolo on the eve of the match. "We're coming up against a top side from a technical point of view, who have showed that they can beat anyone but who have also had some slip-ups. In the last two matches, we haven't lacked fight, we've had some difficulties deadling with the quality of the opponent. We must get the best from what we have and our own characteristics". PRE-MATCH NUMBERS AC Milan have only lost two of their 37 previous matches against Lecce in Serie A (22 wins, 13 draws): when it comes to teams that we have faced at least 30 times in the top flight, the Rossoneri have only avoided defeat to SPAL, less than the Salentini. The last two matches in Salento ended in draws, both at home and 2-2. At the Via del Mara, the Rossoneri won their only ever game in the top flight having to come from three goals down: from 3-0 to 3-4 on 23 October 2011 (hat trick from Boateng and goal from Yepes in the second half, following the goals from the Giallorossi in the first half from Giacomazzi, Oddo and Grossmüller), AC Milan are the side that Ante Rebić has played the most games against (100) and scored the most goals against (27) in his career in the top five European leagues. He has recorded one win and defeat (in the reverse fixture in the league) in the two previous meetings in Serie A, without being involved in a goal. Since his debut in Serie A in Empoli v AC Milan, no other Rossonero has completed more dribbles (10, like Rafael Leão), won more fouls in the final-third (three) and had more shots (15) than João Félix, in the league. In addition, excluding the defenders, only Youssouf Fofana (15) has recovered more passes than the Portuguese player in this period of the season (14, on par with Musah and Reijnders, but with the least number of minutes out of the three - 356') Read alsoTIME MACHINE: LECCE v AC MILAN WHERE TO WATCH LECCE v AC MILAN In Italy, Lecce v AC Milan will be broadcast on DAZN.
