looking for a layout that will give you an air view tour of what the month has in store for you then read on! 1. Plants All-Around Source: This April bullet journal monthly layout is an example of minimalism. The spread is so simple and chic. Reddit has beautifully included even a habit and a fancy mood tracker along with it. This makes things much more convenient; on one hand, you have your monthly spread, and on the other hand, you get to keep a track of your mental health. 2. Bubbly April Source: caholoh.design is one of a kind. This one is one of the most innovative monthly layouts that I have ever come across. The concept is pretty interesting. The layout is so simple that it will hardly take any time to recreate this one. 3. April in Yellow Source: This one is a definition of simplicity. Aminoapps has come up with a calendar for the month that gives a nice overview. What I like most about this one is the color coordinators used that helps to designate special dates and days. 4. Go Green Source: . Go green with this April bullet journal monthly layout like this one by lazythoughts is my favorite kind. It has ample space to write down some details about the days. This helps to remember the schedule and the important upcoming events of the month. 5. Float Away Source: bulletsandconfetti This monthly spread for the April bullet journal is so light and airy. Bulletsandconfetti has used hot air balloons to set the month. Pastel-colored hot air balloons to set the month.
Grey Skies Source: bujokellyy Contrary to conventional believes, grey skies are majestic. And bujokelly has utilized that to set the theme of this monthly log. The little quote at the bottom of the page has further enhanced the essence of the layout. 7. Life Bloom Source: Kaylacropper has created one of the most simple monthly layouts for the April bullet journal. The doodling in this one is pretty easy to recreate. But I like how colorful this layout turned out. With bright yellow and orange, this layout is popping. 8. April and Spring Source: Imgur has added a beautiful quote by Neruda at the bottom of the page. Quotes are my favorite part of any bullet journal page. It keeps me motivated, and the best part is you can always personalize them. The rest of this layout is easy. If you are someone who has no intention of doodling then all you need for this one is some beautiful floral stickers. And voila! You have your April bullet journal monthly log. April bullet journal Weekly Log Weekly logs for the bullet journals are nothing less than a blessing for the busy life that we lead. It gives you ample space to fit in the details of every week. This makes managing the schedule easier. So if you are someone who is always hustling then you can opt for one of these fun weekly logs for your April bullet journal. 1. April Blues Source: bulletbycait bulletbycait has come up with an interesting way in this layout. As you can see, she has also included a tiny calendar for the month just to help you keep track of the week, this is actually a big help. Weekly logs are often chosen as they allow us to register even the tiny details of the week, and this weekly spread does exactly that. 2. Star Gazing Source: cypscribbles Who doesn't like to gaze at the star-lit night sky? Cypscribbles has beautifully created a night theme for this weekly log spread. How dreamy does this whole thing look like! The rabbits lost in the night sky, I love every tiny detail about this one. And of course, that calendar at the left top corner ties everything today. 3. Into the Jungle Source: lilian.letters This jungle theme is so Amazonian. With little hints of green and yellow here and there lilian.letters has created this go-green layout. But my favorite part is how she has segregated the space. On one hand, there is space for an everyday schedule, and on the other hand, there is also a dedicated column for the days where you can write the chill time schedule. 4. Heroes of April Source: blackandwhitejournal I just had to include it in the list. The drawing of Captain America and Captain Marvel is just impeccable. But the star of the layout is the free space given to the week. 5. Daisies April Bullet Journal Weekly Log Source: bujoandcookies That one tiny flower pot with the delicate daisies has made this otherwise simple weekly layout that is not only easy to recreate but also super easy to maintain. And of course, the tiny calendar is a great way to keep track of the date. 6. Yellow Flowers Source: wildeyesbujo has chosen a simple layout interesting is the color patterns.
The flower doodle is lovely with a slight hint of color has made this flower doodle too adorable. Space is not even an issue in this layout. But what I like the most is the next week's section, where you can have a short preview of what the following week is going to look like. Tracker Ideas For April Bullet Journal Trackers, for me, are the best thing about any bullet journal. It helps me to maintain and track anything that I want. But for me, it is the sleep tracker and the mood trackers, you can improve your mental health. 1. Twinkle Stars Source: honeyblissjournals Color the stars with your mood in this mood tracker by honeyblissjournals. With this mood, tracker paint the constellation of your mood this April. 2. Mood Blossoms Source: nicole.josephine has chosen the color very tactfully. With this mood tracker water your mood every day and let yourself grow whatever you go through! 3. Bunch of Flowers Source: juliajournal The concept of this one is pretty interesting. Color each flower according to your mood every day in this mood tracker by juliajournal. There you go! We have come to the end of the curated list of April bullet journal ideas. So this Spring you
