Continue

```
(Source: Pinterest) There's hardly any female child born between 1960 to the early 21st century who'd say they didn't play with Barbie dolls. Since its introduction in 1959, Barbies have become a staple toy for little girls and gained worldwide popularity leading to more variations. Today, there are thousands of Barbie models, including limited editions made on special occasions like the Holiday Barbies and Promotional Barbies. With these many options, you ask, "are Barbies worth?" and more. In this complete Barbie collector price guide, we've answered all your asked and unasked questions, from the brief history of Barbies to identification by years and valuation including the first Barbie doll value. Brief History of Barbie Dolls (Source: Invaluable) The blonde, blue-eyed doll from Malibu, California, came to life in the garage of toymaker Ruth Handler and her husband, Elliot. After watching her play with flat paper dolls, the designer created the 3D doll for her daughter, Barbara. The first Barbie doll, whose real name is Barbara Millicent Roberts (namesake to Ruth's Barbara), made her national debut at the New York Toy Fair on March 9, 1959, under the Mattel Inc. brand. Before her Barbie doll, there was already a German 3D doll - Bild Lilli - but Handler bought the rights to avoid copyright conflicts. She modeled her Barbie after the Bild Lilli doll but changed the features to American-style. Her first appearance was in a striped black and white sleeveless one-piece swimsuit with ponytail bangs, blonde hair, and red lipstick. Over the years, the doll has undergone several variations in her clothes and body features. This Barbie Collectors Price Guide helps you sift through the thousands of models designed from 1959 to date, including their identification and value. Watch Ruth Handler narrate the history of Barbie Dolls on watchmojo.com How to Determine the Value of Barbie Dolls on watchmojo.com How to Determine the Value of Barbie Dolls Knowing their identification and value.
Why? So that you don't pay more than you ought to when buying a Barbie or receive less than they're worth when selling. Factors influence the value of your barbie dolls Model Over the years, Barbies were made for different purposes, whether as limited editions from Mattel Inc. or special designs for promotions. These characteristics add to the Barbie doll's value because they make them special and interesting. For example, Mattel Inc. made the most expensive Barbie ever sold as a one-time-only edition for auction at the Breast Cancer Research Foundation fundraiser in Oct. 2010. Two years before that, the company made the Diamond Castle Barbie to promote its Direct-to-Video animated movie, Barbie and the Diamond Castle. Here are some of the expensive, exclusive and rare Barbie De Beers 40th Anniversary Barbie Stefani Canturi Barbie 2010 (Source: Pinterest) The noblest Barbie of them all is the Stefani Canturi Barbie, despite her outfit being modest. The $302,5000 doll raised funds for Breast Cancer Research with her black tiered dress and emerald-cut Australian pink diamond jewelry. Diamond Castle Barbie was a special limited-edition doll who wore a two-toned pink ballgown with a Tiara like the character in the movie. Her dress had 318 diamonds impressed on it, and although it wasn't sold, it was valued at $94,800 now, $95,000 per iPrice. DeBeers Anniversary model is one of a kind with a unique outfit. Although she came about 10 years after the first Afro and Hispanic Barbies entered the market, she outshone her predecessors and peers. She wore a bright orange shawl over a scant-clad diamond-cut bra with a maxi low-waist floral skirt. Her accessories, however, take the cake with the 160 diamond-cut bra with a maxi low-waist floral skirt. Her accessories, however, take the cake with the 160 diamond-cut bra with a maxi low-waist floral skirt.
but you can read more about them below. Condition Because Barbie dolls typically come in customized boxes, yours must remain intact if you want to sell them for top dollar. A Barbie doll without/ with a damaged box will sell at a premium because it's an extremely rare model like the OG doll. Mattel's Grading System Watch the video below to see the Mattel Grading System. Mattel made its four-tier structure in 2004 to help buyers identify collectible Barbies. They are Platinum labeled because there are less than 1000 produced, and even lesser remain as the years progress.
With Gold labels, the number cap is 25,000, while silver labels cap at 50,000. As you must've guessed by now, Pink Labels have no quota, thereby making them the least collectible, as earlier mentioned. eBay's Grading System eBay made a rating list it uses to categorize Barbie Dolls according to collectors through the years. This lingua will help you with online shopping and labeling if you're interested in selling your Barbie Doll. The C-grading system rates Barbie dolls from 1 to 10, with 1 being the least and 10 being the least and 10 being the best. So, you'll see letters and figures like C-1 to C-10. Other hints include, Hard To Find (HTF) - This simply means rare. Modern Barbie - Because the doll's production spans 63 years, Barbies made after 1972 are classified as Modern Dolls, while pre-1972 models are vintage. It follows the technical rule of vintage and antique attributions of 50 and 100 years, respectively. However, the time limitation to 1972 will increase to accommodate the new timeline as the years go by. Original Swimsuit (OSS) - This is typically used for the 1959 Barbie doll in reference to the iconic zebra sleeveless swimwear. On that note, there are four categories of Barbie doll box conditions, especially with Holiday Barbies sold without the box must either be MNB or NM to fetch a reasonable amount of money. Any visible damage such as missing parts, scratches, broken limbs, scanty hair, or more significantly devalues the piece. How much are Barbie doll's worth? "How much are Barbie doll's worth?" Each Barbie doll's worth differs based on her age and model because some were made in the same year but with different variations. Based on the factors outlined above, some Barbie dolls are extra rare and thus worth thousands of dollars. Of course, you want to know which Barbie Doll Worth? The original Barbie doll value of $3 wasn't expensive in the Fifties, but it wasn't cheap either. Today, you may wonder, "How much is the original barbie doll value worth?" and that's a valid thought. You don't have to think further because you've come to the right place for answers. According to Money Inc., the 1959 Barbie doll value ranks 3rd amongst the most expensive Barbie dolls worldwide and can fetch up to $8,000 in poor condition and even more at $27,500 in mint condition. We'll talk about condition scales later on in this guide. Invaluable says Mattel Inc. sold over 300,000 in its first year thanks to the promotional commercial during the Mickey Mouse Clubhouse Tv show. Note, however, that the first Barbie model with golden eyes and blonde hair had two editions with varying values in today's market. The first edition had holes in her feet connecting her black shoes to them, but not the second edition. However, the value of the first edition had holes in her feet connecting her black shoes to them, but not the second edition. However, the value of the first edition had holes in her feet connecting her black shoes to them, but not the second edition.
Barbie Dolls that fetch a lot of dollars include; Collectors Edition Barbies Collectors Edition Barbies (Source: Amazon) When Mattel Inc. noticed that Barbie dolls were collectors Edition Barbies (Source: Amazon) When Mattel Inc. noticed that Barbie dolls were collectors Edition Barbies (Source: Amazon) When Mattel Inc. noticed that Barbie dolls were collectors Edition Barbies (Source: Amazon) When Mattel Inc. noticed that Barbies (Source: Amazon) O'Hara are labeled Timeless Treasures. Although she's still alive, pop icon Cher is also categorized under the Timeless Treasures dolls. There's a group called The National Barbie Doll Collectors that holds yearly Conventions. Customized Barbie Dolls (Source: Pinterest) Mattel Inc. partnered with celebrities, brands, and various organizations to create Barbie dolls specifically for their events or person. Barbie Media cites Oscar de la Renta as the first collaborator with Mattel in 1985. Celebrity Barbie Dolls (Source: Pinterest), Beyoncé (Destiny's Child), Laverne Cox (the first transgender doll), and more are called by their names. Limited Edition Barbie Dolls (Source: Pinterest) Unlike customized Barbie Dolls, limited-edition models are made in restricted quantities significantly lesser than the typical 35,000/more Mattel Inc. introduced the pregnant Barbie Doll Value (Source: NWI Shop) Mattel Inc. introduced the pregnant Barbie Dolls, limited-edition models are made in restricted quantities significantly lesser than the typical 35,000/more Mattel Inc. introduced the pregnant Barbie Dolls, limited-edition models are made in restricted quantities significantly lesser than the typical 35,000/more Mattel Inc. introduced the pregnant Barbie Dolls, limited-edition models are made in restricted quantities significantly lesser than the typical 35,000/more Mattel Inc. introduced the pregnant Barbie Dolls, limited-edition models are made in restricted quantities significantly lesser than the typical 35,000/more Mattel Inc. introduced the pregnant Barbie Dolls, limited-edition models are made in restricted quantities significantly lesser than the typical 35,000/more Mattel Inc. introduced the pregnant Barbie Dolls, limited-edition models are made in restricted quantities significantly lesser than the typical 35,000/more Mattel Inc. introduced the pregnant Barbie Dolls, limited-edition models are made in restricted quantities significantly lesser than the typical 35,000/more Mattel Inc. introduced the pregnant Barbie Dolls, limited-edition models are made in restricted quantities significantly lesser than the typical 35,000/more Mattel Inc. introduced the pregnant Barbie Dolls, limited-edition models are made in restricted quantities significantly lesser than the typical 35,000/more Mattel Inc. introduced the pregnant Barbie Dolls, limited-edition models are made in restricted quantities are made in restricted quantities and limited barbie Dolls, limited barb Midge Doll Value lies between $200 - $300 for rare models and less for regular designs. The OG Midge doll (1962) had a skinny waistline but was distinguished with her lemon top and red bottom bikini set, and bubblecut bob blonde/black hair typical of the sixties. Later, Mattel produced her as a pregnant lady in 2002. (Source: Pinterest) ABC News reported that the single package depicting her as a lonely mother-to-be caused a controversy that made in Japan dolls of the sixties. Read more about that below. 1966 Barbie Doll Value (Source: Bonanza) According to Marl & Be, five different Barbie Dolls were introduced in 1966, and they were all made in Japan. The flexible-legged American girl with a "Color Magic" face was sold exclusively in the Asian country. Because 1966 was the same year Mattel patented its Twist N Turn waist design which continued into 1999, all dolls made in that window have the patent year impressed on their bodies. An alternative identification is looking at the manufacturing country's impression on the doll's body like, 1959 - 1972 JAPAN. The 1966 Barbie Value (Source: We R Toys) In 1988, Mattel introduced the annual Holiday Barbies dressed in extravagant gowns for the festive season.
Their limited-edition status makes them rare models, and they sell upwards of $300 - $1,000, but the recent models rake in a regular $50 - $100. Holiday Barbies became the first limited series in Mattel's Collector Barbies since they appealed to the older generation. The tradition has carried until now, but the highest-ranking valued Holiday Barbies are the models made pre-1995. It's undergone numerous changes, including its name in 1999 (Millennium Princess), 2000 - 2002 (Celebration Princess), 2000 - 4002 (Celebration Princess), 2000 - 2002 (Celebration Value (Source: We R Toys) A few Holiday Barbie is amongst them. There's a catch to that increased value, though. According to a seller on Etsy, the first set Mattel made had blue eyes, which was a factory error. So, the company recalled it before sending out the intended brown-eyed model. This means that the factory error 1997 holiday Barbie has a higher value than the corrected version because it's rare. Millennium Barbies to usher in the new Century/Millennium at the turn of the century. She's propped in a box named Millennium Princess, wearing a silver and Navy ballgown. The blonde-haired doll also has a silver disco ball ornament with a chiffon ribbon that reads - Happy Year 2000. She's the last creation of the 1000s, which gives her a special place amongst her peers. The Millenium Barbie value is $800 - $1500 on retail sites. Celebration Barbie Value (Source: Pinterest) Her shiny gold ball gown and white fur shawl mimicked the splendor and glamour of the new year. Like her counterpart, the Millennium Princess closed in the 2000s hence her festive name. In her box, she's also one of the few Holiday Barbies with a keepsake (a white ornament designed with silver snowflakes and the number 2000 in gold shimmer). She also has a separate name from the rest - Celebration Barbie. 2001 Holiday Barbies Value The 2001 Holiday Barbie Dolls Collectible Barbie doesn't have any unique features that increase her value exponentially. It fetches about $9 to $35 which is the average price of regular Holiday Barbies. Where to Buy Collectible Barbie Dolls Collectible Barbie doesn't have any unique features that increase her value exponentially. It fetches about $9 to $35 which is the average price of regular Holiday Barbies. Where to Buy Collectible Barbie Dolls Collectible Barbie doesn't have any unique features that increase her value exponentially. It fetches about $9 to $35 which is the average price of regular Holiday Barbies. more in demand than you think; hence you can find them almost everywhere that sells antique and vintage dolls, including online markets. The difficult part is finding a credible retailer and rare Barbie bolls since there are many old ones. Now that you know how to tell if a Barbie is worth money, here are a few websites you can check for Collectible Barbie Dolls Amazon The number one online marketplace for any and everything. As the pioneer in online shopping, it's no wonder that Amazon sells Vintage Barbie Dolls, including promotional models. They range from Coca-Cola Barbie to Marilyn Monroe's Iconic The Seven Year Itch breeze-blown white dress. Amazon sells these Collectible Barbies for as low as $50, upwards of $200 on an average. eBay Arguably the biggest online secondary retailer worldwide, eBay Barbies sell between $50 to $1,000 on average and upwards of $10,000 for rare models, including Karl Lagerfeld's Platinum label. Note that the expensive Barbie dolls on eBay are Never Removed from Box pieces. The exception is the original Barbie dolls on eBay are Never Removed from Box pieces. The exception is the original Barbie dolls on eBay are Never Removed from Box pieces. of sales, including its collection of collection of collectible Barbies. Although most of the expensive ($100 - $200) listings on the website are bundles, it still has the most independent sellers, which are the rarest models. Most notable is that Etsy's over $1,000 listings are Holiday Barbies, so you know where to look if that's your interest. Mattel Why not go directly to the source? Mattel Creations still offers rare Barbie dolls (especially tributes made after notable celebrities) at affordable prices. You can get a vintage Barbie for as low as $20 and no more than $125. Where to Sell Collectible Barbie Dolls After studying the guide thoroughly, if you're convinced your Barbie doll is worth a couple of thousand dollars there are a few places you can sell them. However, we advise that you first get an appraisal from professionals to confirm its value. You can search Appraisers - Dr. Lori, who has a Ph.D. in antique and vintage items appraisal Value My Stuff online, which offers 24-hours results. Some collectors prefer using secondary online marketplaces for sale because of their wider reach. You can try that too. However, there are limitations to using such media. Unless you're an accredited seller with a proven sales track record, it's unlikely that people will trust your account. Also, you may be subjected to paying a percentage of your earnings to the website. An alternative and more reliable option is to employ a notable auction house like Sotheby's or Christie's to be the middleman. After all, the most expensive Barbie Dolls worldwide were sold by auction houses. In 2006, Christie's sold a lady's 1959 Original Barbie for 2,880 pounds, more than double the estimated price of 800 - 1,200 pounds. You also have the opportunity of doubling your estimated value. Service Charges may also apply. Barbie of blonde hair with arched long straight blonde hair, and her eyes faced forward for the first time (a model that'll continue for years). In the 1980s, her blonde hair frizzed out into a big puff as she started her Rock band, mirroring the disco era. That decade also ushered in the first diverse race models - Afro and Hispanic Barbies. The 1990s introduced the Totally Hair Barbie, giving players a foot-length blonde wavy hair to play with. This new model is recorded as the best-selling regular Barbie, with more than 10 million pieces produced and sold. As the 20th century turned into a new millennium, Barbie became more flexible with "an athletic physique" and a belly button. She also switched her dress into more modern casual outfits separate from her previous formal wear. Barbie broke up with Ken in 2004 as part of her girl power campaign. She has since challenged more gender stereotypes, especially with the career Barbies. Insider made a comprehensive list with pictures for a fun game of "Here's what Barbie looked like the year you were born."
Thoughts Barbie Dolls worth money isn't very many, considering the number of products Mattel releases into the market yearly. However, on the rare occasion you find a unique doll, especially one with intact packaging, get an appraiser because you may be lucky. The value of Barbie dolls still in the box is higher than those without their original boxes or damaged packaging. So, if you're prepping for the future, these are a few things to consider. FAOs O: What's the most expensive Barbie Ever Sold? A: The 2010 Stefani Canturi Barbie doll designed as part of an auction haul for the Breast Cancer Research Foundation's fundraiser carries a whopping $302,500 value. Legendary fashion designer Stefano Canturi designed the jewelry, including an Emerald cut Australian Pink diamond on the chain has a three-carat white diamond enclosing its worth. Her hair is platinum blonde, while her lips are bright rec with a dark beauty mark on the top left corner. Q: What Online Resources are available? A: You can check online Price Guides like this one or compare sold values on auction sites like Christie's, 1stDibs, and Sotheby's sells pictures of the vintage dolls as photographed by David Levinthal. If you don't like online resources, you can buy a price guide book via Amazon Books like Warman's Barbie Doll Field Guide: Value and Identification, 2003. However, it's best to use online quides because they contain updated prices, unlike paperbacks with old lists. Fashion Dolls Mini BarbieLand Sports Dream Besties Reveal Careers Shop All Barbie Deluxe Style dolls take glam to a new level with gorgeous fashions and elevated accessories. Shop Now Kids will love playing, displaying, collecting, and building out their own miniature Barbie world with these latest additions. Shop Now Barbie Deluxe Style dolls take glam to a new level with gorgeous fashions and elevated accessories. fashions and elevated accessories. Shop Now Kids will love playing, displaying, collecting, and building out their own miniature Barbie Fashionistas dolls is designed to reflect the world kids see today. Shop Now Expand the adventures with fun-filled toys from our Barbie Dollhouse and Vehicles collection. Shop Now Encourage kids to imagine everything they can become with Barbie Tashionistas dolls is designed to reflect the world kids see today. Shop Now Expand the adventures with fun-filled toys from our Barbie Careers dolls and playsets. Shop Now See dolls and playsets featuring Barbie "Brooklyn," Chelsea, Skipper, and other fave characters. Shop Now Share — copy and redistribute the material in any medium or format for any purpose, even commercially. Adapt — remix, transform, and build upon the material for any purpose, even commercially. Attribution — You must give appropriate credit, provide a link to the license, and indicate if changes were made. You may do so in any reasonable manner, but not in any way that suggests the licenser endorses you or your use. ShareAlike — If you remix, transform, or build upon the material, you must distribute your contributions under the same license as the original. No additional restrictions — You may not apply legal terms or technological measures that legally restrict others from doing anything the license permits. You do not have to comply with the license for elements of the material in the public domain or where your use is permitted by an applicable exception or limitation. No warranties are given. The license may not give you all of the permissions necessary for your intended use. For example, other rights such as publicity, privacy, or moral rights may limit how you use the material. The Motorsport Images Collections captures events from 1895 to today's most recent coverage. Discover The Collection Curated, compelling, and worth your time Explore our latest gallery of Editors' Picks. Browse Editors' Favorites Experience AI-Powered Creativity (The Motorsport Images Collections captures events from 1895 to today's most recent coverage. Discover The Collections captures events from 1895 to today's most recent coverage. Discover The Collections captures events from 1895 to today's most recent coverage. Discover The Collection Curated, compelling, and worth your time. Explore our latest gallery of Editors' Picks. Browse Editors' Favorites Experience AI-Powered Creativity (The Motorsport Images Collection Curated).
 Powered CreativityThe Motorsport Images Collections captures events from 1895 to today's most recent coverage. Discover The Collections Curated, compelling, and worth your time. Explore our latest gallery of Editors' Picks. Browse Editors' Picks. Picks. singerBarbie honored American pop icon Shania Twain with her own Barbie doll that's part of Barbie's 65th anniversary. It's National Barbie Day. Used to celebrate the iconic doll created by Mattel, the yearly occurrence brings back a feeling of childhood nostalgia. After all, most middle-class American women have had some sort of experience with the toy, whether a critique or a praise. The classic toy also regained popularity in recent years, especially with the release of the 2023 film "Barbie," starring Margot Robbie and Ryan Gosling. The film is nominated for eight Oscars, taking place on Sunday evening. So, if you happen to have old Barbie dolls sitting around in storage, now might be the perfect time to dust off those bins and pull them out. They might be worth a decent chunk of change! Others are reading: Shania Twain, Viola Davis, others honored with Barbie dolls for Women's Day, 65th anniversaryRecent research from BonusFinder.com indicates your old doll could be worth over $27,000. The ten most valuable dolls from Mattel's collection are as follows: Barbie #1 (1959): The original Barbie, characterized by her signature white and black striped swimsuit, has a maximum resale value of $27,450. It was released in 1959 and originally priced at $3.Barbie Baby-Sits Outfit (1963): Released just a few years after the original Barbie, this outfit and toy set is worth $1,036. It includes a variety of items like a baby, a baby bottle, a pink bassinet and more. Harvey Nichols Special Edition Barbie (1995): Only available for purchase in England, the doll was a limited-edition model for the British store Harvey Nichols. It has a value of up to $900 and is recognizable for her pink silk collared jacket over a black dress. Happy Holidays Barbie Brunette (1997): Valued at $1,201, the doll was a special edition for the Happy Holidays Barbie (2000): Known for her shiny, gold ball gown and layered gold and silver skirt with small stars and snowflakes, the 2000 release is valued at $1,051.City Smart Barbie (2003): Dressed in a black pencil dress with bows on each shoulder with an elegant updo, City Smart Barbie (2003): Dressed in a black pencil dress with bows on each shoulder with an elegant updo, City Smart Barbie (2003): Dressed in a black pencil dress with bows on each shoulder with an elegant updo, City Smart Barbie (2006): In a strapless white gown with black lace and white satin gloves, the 2006 release is worth $2,423.Byron Lars Coco Barbie (2007): With a resale value of up to $1,101, the 2007 release is distinguished by her white puffer vest, lace skirt and bright pink gloves. Golden Gala Barbie (2009): Given as a gift to attendees of the 2009 National Barbie (2009): Given as a gift to attendees of the 2009 National Barbie (2007): With a resale value of up to $1,101, the 2007 release is distinguished by her white puffer vest, lace skirt and bright pink gloves. Golden Gala Barbie (2009): Given as a gift to attendees of the 2009 National Barbie (2009): Given as a gift to attendees of the 2009 National Barbie (2009): Given as a gift to attendees of the 2009 National Barbie (2009): Given as a gift to attendees of the 2009 National Barbie (2009): Given as a gift to attendees of the 2009 National Barbie (2009): Given as a gift to attendees of the 2009 National Barbie (2009): Given as a gift to attendees of the 2009 National Barbie (2009): Given as a gift to attendees of the 2009 National Barbie (2009): Given as a gift to attendees of the 2009 National Barbie (2009): Given as a gift to attendees of the 2009 National Barbie (2009): Given as a gift to attendees of the 2009 National Barbie (2009): Given as a gift to attendees of the 2009 National Barbie (2009): Given as a gift to attendees of the 2009 National Barbie (2009): Given as a gift to attendees of the 2009 National Barbie (2009): Given as a gift to attendees of the 2009 National Barbie (2009): Given as a gift to attendees of the 2009 National Barbie (2009): Given as a gift to attendees of the 2009 National Barbie (2009): Given as a gift to attendees of the 2009 National Barbie (2009): Given as a gift to attendees of the 2009 National Barbie (2009): Given as a gift to attendees of the 2009 National Barbie (2009): Given as a gift to attendees of the 2009 National Barbie (2009): Given as a gift to attendees of the 2009 National Barbie (2009): Given as a gift to attendees of the 2009 National Barbie (2009): Given as a gift to attendees of the 2009 National Barbie (2009): Given as a gi the skirt and a golden jacket with white ruffled gloves. It's worth up to $1,451.Bob Mackie Countess Dracula Barbie (2011): The 2011 release is worth up to $886 and is recognized for her red hair, red-woven skirt and collar. Today, Mattel still creates and releases new Barbie dolls, and one day they could be worth a fortune. Maybe even the 2023 dollar. inspired by Robbie in "Barbie," the movie. According to Mattel Shop, a doll featuring Robbie in her pink, western theme outfit in the film is available for $50. The doll comes with flare jeans and a matching vest, cream and gold cowboy boots and a cowboy hat. If you think dolls in your Barbie collection could one day become a fortune, there are plenty. of ways to preserve the dolls and keep them in good condition. "Keeping your vintage Barbie dolls in mint condition is the best way to maintain their collectable value. As with any collector's items, Barbies are susceptible to environmental damage and ageing," according to BonusFinder.com experts. The website recommends: Keep Away From Direct Sunlight: Store your Barbie doll away from direct sunlight. Never store your Barbie on a windowsill or shelves that directly catch the sun. Avoid Exposure to Heat: Exposure to intense heat should be avoided. If the Barbie doll heats up, the plastic can soften and become misshapen. Heat from direct sunlight can also cause paint to peel over time.Remove Dirt and Dust: Regularly clean your Barbie in its Box: Most importantly, to keep your vintage Barbie doll in tip-top condition it's best to keep it in its box. This prevents dust and dirt, as well as natural oils from your fingers building up on your Barbie doll. 'Barbie': Greta Gerwig says movie success 'was not guaranteed'National Barbie Day celebrates the iconic release of the original Barbie doll in 1959 at the American International Toy Fair in New York, according to National Day Calendar. Barbie's boyfriend, Ken, was later released in 1961. The Mattel doll was created by Ruth Handler and mass-produced over the years, with an estimation of over one billion dolls sold in over 150 countries. In 1998, Barbie was inducted into the Toy Hall of Fame, along with other famous creations like the Duncan yoyo and chess. National Barbie Day takes place on March 9th each year. ORLANDO, Fla. - "Barbie" has already rocked the charts as the top box office moneymaker of the summer season and now the film has created a buzz in the world of doll owners. News 6 viewers have been sharing photos of their Barbie collections, including limited edition plates, Holiday Barbie) and Barbie accessories. Unfortunately, just like baseball card collectors of past generations, the grown-up doll collectors have tales of moving and losing dolls along the way and damaging the all-important boxes they're displayed in. Valerie Hammond, a top appraiser with valuemy stuff.com, told News 6 everyone thinks they have a rare Barbie, but the market is flooded with the Mattel toy icon. "As soon as they announced the release of the movie, I went from appraising maybe six or seven (dolls) a day to 20 or 30 a day," she said. "You're going to come up with millions of hits for Barbie and out of all of those millions, maybe a thousand are rare Barbie dolls." Kym Rorabacher, currently in Winter Park, has an array of crinkled boxes and an impressive collection of accessories and original Barbie dolls, including the Audrey Hepburn "Breakfast at Tiffany's" doll still in the gray-trimmed box. Kimberly Rorabacher, currently in Winter Park, has an array of crinkled boxes and an impressive collection of original Barbie dolls, including the Audrey Hepburn
 "Breakfast at Tiffany's" doll still in the box. (Kimberly Rorabacher) [EXCLUSIVE: Become a News 6 Insider (it's FREE) | PINIT! Share your photos] "We love Barbies," Rorabacher told News 6. "We played with them as little kids. Francie was my first Barbie doll." Her original Francie is long gone, but her reproduction is valued from $39.99 to $242 Rorabacher's prized, classic edition Audrey Hepburn doll is worth from $47.99 to just over $140. (Kimberly Rorabacher and the millions of collectors who hold on to the various Barbie doll. (Kimberly Rorabacher and the millions of collectors who hold on to the various Barbie doll.) fun. You can check the potential value of your dolls here. This site offers a free guide presenting the lowest, average and highest value may have a doll you think may have special value for every Barbie in the Mattel universe. If you have a doll you think may have special value you can have it appraised at valuemystuff.com. There are a number of different holiday edition Barbie dolls. (Kimberly Rorabacher) For instance, the 2019 Holiday Barbie has a low value of $9, average value of $7. Bonus Finder.com crunched the numbers and developed this top 10 list. Good luck! If you find you have a rare Barbie, let us know. Just email makendsmeet@wkmg.com. The most valuable Barbie dolls: RankBarbie doll nameRelease yearMaximum resale value ($)1Barbie #11959$27,4502Dahlia Barbie2006$2,4233Golden Gala Barbie2007$1,1017Special 2000 Edition Celebration Barbie2000$1,0518Barbie #11959$27,4502Dahlia Barbie2007$1,1017Special 2000 Edition Celebration Barbie2003$1,1516Byron Lars Coco Barbie2007$1,2015City Smart Barbie2000$1,0518Barbie #11959$27,4502Dahlia Barbie2003$1,1516Byron Lars Coco Barbie2007$1,1017Special 2000 Edition Celebration Barbie2000$1,0518Barbie #11959$27,4502Dahlia Barbie2003$1,1516Byron Lars Coco Barbie2007$1,2015City Smart Barbie2000$1,0518Barbie #11959$27,4502Dahlia Barbie2000$1,0518Barbie #11959$2,0518Barbie #11959$2,05 Edition Barbie1995$90010Bob Mackie Countess Dracula Barbie2011$886Get today's headlines in minutes with Your Florida Daily:Copyright 2023 by WKMG ClickOrlando - All rights reserved. (Source: Pinterest) There's hardly any female child born between 1960 to the early 21st century who'd say they didn't play with Barbie dolls. Since its introduction in 1959, Barbies have become a staple toy for little girls and gained worldwide popularity leading to more variations. Today, there are thousands of Barbies models, including limited editions made on special occasions like the Holiday Barbies and Promotional Barbies. With these many options, you ask, "are Barbies worth anything?" If yes
 "How much is the first Barbie worth?" and more. In this complete Barbie collector price guide, we've answered all your asked and unasked questions, from the brief History of Barbie Dolls (Source: Invaluable) The blonde, blue-eyed doll from Malibu California, came to life in the garage of toymaker Ruth Handler and her husband, Elliot. After watching her play with flat paper dolls, the designer created the 3D doll for her daughter, Barbara Millicent Roberts (namesake to Ruth's Barbara), made her national debut at the New York Toy Fair on March 9, 1959, under the Mattel Inc. brand. Before her Barbie doll, there was already a German 3D doll - Bild Lilli oll but changed the features to American-style. Her first appearance was in a striped black and white sleeveless one-piece swimsuit with ponytail bangs, blonde hair, and red lipstick. Over the years, the doll has undergone several variations in her clothes and body features. This Barbie Collectors Price Guide helps you sift through the thousands of models designed from 1959 to date, including their identification and value. Watch Ruth Handler narrate the history of Barbie Dolls on watchmojo.com How to Determine the Value of Barbie Dolls, the next step is distinguishing between valuable models and regular models. Why? So that you don't pay more than you ought to when buying a Barbie or receive less than they're worth when selling. Factors influencing value Have a look at some of the factors that might influence the value of your barbie dolls Model Over the years, Barbies were made for different purposes, whether as limited editions from Mattel Inc. or special and interesting. For example, Mattel Inc. made the models ever made; Diamond Castle Promotional Barbie De Beers 40th Anniversary Barbie Stefani Canturi Barbie, despite her outfit being modest. The $302,5000 doll raised funds for Breast Cancer Research with her black tiered dress and emerald-cut Australian pink diamond jewelry. Diamond Castle 2008 (Source: Fashion Lady) Diamond Castle Barbie was a special limited-edition doll who wore a two-toned pink ballgown with a Tiara like the character in the movie. Her dress had 318 diamonds impressed on it, and although it wasn't sold, it was valued at $94,800 now, $95,000 per iPrice. DeBeers Anniversary Barbie 1999 (Source: Luxuo) Talking of exotic-looking Barbie dolls, the DeBeer 40th anniversary model is one of a kind with a unique outfit. Although she came about 10 years after the first Afro and Hispanic Barbies entered the market, she outshone her predecessors and peers. She wore a bright orange shawl over a scant-clad diamond cut bra with a maxi low-waist floral skirt. Her accessories, however, take the cake with the 160 diamond pieces valued at $85,000. Of course, there are others, including the OG 1959 Barbie doll, but you can read more about them below. Condition Because Barbie dolls typically come in customized boxes, yours must remain intact if you want to sell them for top dollar. A Barbie doll without/ with a damaged box will sell at a premium because it's an extremely rare model like the OG doll. Mattel or dollar. A Barbie doll without/ with a damaged box will sell at a premium because it's an extremely rare model like the OG doll. Mattel or dollar. A Barbie doll without/ with a damaged box will sell at a premium because it's an extremely rare model like the OG doll. Mattel or dollar. A Barbie dollar. A Barbie doll without/ with a damaged box will sell at a premium because it's an extremely rare model like the OG doll. Mattel or dollar. A Barbie dollar. A Barbie doll without/ with a damaged box will sell at a premium because it's an extremely rare model like the OG doll. Mattel or dollar. A Barbie with Platinum being the most exclusive and pink being the least. Rare Barbie dolls are Platinum labeled because there are less than 1000 produced, and even lesser remain as the years progress. With Gold labels, the number cap is 25,000, while silver labels cap at 50,000. As you must've guessed by now, Pink Labels have no quota, thereby making them the least collectible, as earlier mentioned. eBay's Grading System eBay made a rating list it uses to categorize Barbie Dolls according to collectors through the years. This lingua will help you with online shopping and labeling if you're interested in selling your Barbie Doll. The C-grading system rates Barbie dolls from 1 to 10, with 1 being the least and 10 being the best. So, you'll see letters and figures like C-1 to C-10. Other hints include, Hard To Find (HTF) - This simply means rare. Modern Dolls, while pre-1972 models are vintage. It follows the technical rule of vintage and antiquestime to the control of the attributions of 50 and 100 years, respectively. However, the time limitation to 1972 will increase to accommodate the new timeline as the years go by. Original Swimsuit (OSS) - This is typically used for the 1959 Barbie doll in reference to the iconic zebra sleeveless swimwear. On that note, there are four categories of Barbie doll box conditions especially with Holiday Barbies. Never Removed from Box (NRFB) Mint In Package (MIP) / Mint in Box (MNB) Mear Mint (NM) Barbies sold without the box must either be MNB or NM to fetch a reasonable amount of money. Any visible damage such as missing parts, scratches, broken limbs, scanty hair, or more significantly devalues the piece. How much are they worth? "How much are Barbie dolls worth?" Each Barbie dolls worth different variations. Based on the factors outlined above, some Barbie dolls are extra rare and thus worth thousands of dollars. Of course, you want to know which Barbie Dolls are worth money, so here's a list based on sales records across the internet. How Much is an Original Barbie Doll Worth? The original Barbie doll value worth?" and that's a valid thought. You don't have to think further because you've come to the right place for answers. According to Money Inc., the 1959 Barbie doll value ranks 3rd amongst the most expensive Barbie doll value ranks 3rd amongst the most expensive Barbie doll value ranks 3rd amongst the most expensive Barbie doll value ranks 3rd amongst the most expensive Barbie doll value ranks 3rd amongst the most expensive Barbie doll value ranks 3rd amongst the most expensive Barbie doll value ranks 3rd amongst the most expensive Barbie doll value ranks 3rd amongst the most expensive Barbie doll value ranks 3rd amongst the most expensive Barbie doll value ranks 3rd amongst the most expensive Barbie doll value ranks 3rd amongst the most expensive Barbie doll value ranks 3rd amongst the most expensive Barbie doll value ranks 3rd amongst the most expensive Barbie doll value ranks 3rd amongst the most expensive Barbie doll value ranks 3rd amongst the most expensive Barbie doll value ranks 3rd amongst the most expensive Barbie doll value ranks 3rd amongst the most expensive Barbie doll value ranks 3rd amongst the most expensive Barbie doll value ranks 3rd amongst the most expensive Barbie doll value ranks 3rd amongst the most expensive Barbie doll value ranks 3rd amongst the most expensive Barbie doll value ranks 3rd amongst the most expensive Barbie doll value ranks 3rd amongst the most expensive Barbie doll value ranks 3rd amongst the most expensive Barbie doll value ranks 3rd amongst the most expensive Barbie doll value ranks 3rd amongst the most expensive Barbie doll value ranks 3rd amongst the most expensive Barbie doll value ranks 3rd amongst the most expensive Barbie doll value ranks 3rd amongst the most expensive Barbie doll value ranks 3rd amongst the most expensive Barbie doll value ranks 3rd amongst the most expensive Barbie doll value ranks 3rd amongst the most expensive Barbie doll value ranks 3rd amongst the most expensive Barbie doll value ranks 3rd amongst the most expensive Barbie doll value ranks 3rd amongst the most expensive Barbie Invaluable says Mattel Inc. sold over 300,000 in its first year thanks to the promotional commercial during the Mickey Mouse Clubhouse Tv show. Note, however, that the first edition had holes in her feet connecting her black shoes to them, but not the second edition. However, the value of the first Barbie doll didn't influence the subsequent price increase. Types of Barbie Dolls Other notably exclusive Barbie Dolls Other notab Inc. noticed that Barbie dolls were collectors' favorites, it made exclusive Collector Barbies meant for hobbyists. Late celebrities like Elizabeth Taylor, Elvis, Lucille Ball, Marilyn Monroe, Princess Diana, and Scarlet O'Hara are labeled Timeless Treasures dolls.
There's a group called The National Barbie Dolls (Source: Pinterest) Mattel Inc. partnered with celebrities, brands, and various organizations to create Barbie dolls specifically for their events or person. Barbie Media cites Oscar de la Renta as the first collaborator with Mattel in 1985
Celebrity Barbie Dolls like Nicki Minaj (Pink Friday), Beyoncé (Destiny's Child), Laverne Cox (the first transgender doll), and more are called by their names. Limited Edition Barbie Dolls (Source: Pinterest) Unlike customized Barbie Dolls, limited-edition models are made in restricted quantities significantly lesser than the typical 35,000/more Mattel Inc. produces. 1962 Barbie Doll Value (Source: NWI Shop) Mattel Inc. introduced the pregnant Barbie Midge doll in the sixties in fulfillment of their promise of representation. The OG Midge doll (1962) had a skinny waistline but was distinguished with her lemon top and red bottom bikini set, and bubblecut bob blonde/black hair typical of the sixties. Later, Mattel produced her as a lonely mother-to-be caused a controversy that made the company recall Midge from distribution. She also has bendable legs like the rest of the Made in Japan dolls of the sixties. Read more about that below. 1966 Barbie Doll Value (Source: Bonanza) According to Marl & Be, five different Barbie Doll Value (Source: Bonanza) According to Marl & Be, five different Barbie Dolls were introduced in 1966, and they were all made in Japan dolls of the sixties.
exclusively in the Asian country. Because 1966 was the same year Mattel patented its Twist N Turn waist design which continued into 1999, all dolls made in that window have the patent year impressed on their bodies. An alternative identification is looking at the manufacturing country's impression on the doll's body like, 1959 - 1972 JAPAN. The 1966 Barbie doll value is between $500 to $1,000 apiece. 1988 Holiday Barbie Value (Source: We R Toys) In 1988, Mattel introduced the annual Holiday Barbies dressed in extravagant gowns for the festive season. Their limited-edition status makes them rare models, and they sell upwards of $300 - $1,000, but the recent models rake in a regular $500 to $1,000 apiece.
 - $100. Holiday Barbies became the first limited series in Mattel's Collector Barbies since they appealed to the older generation. The tradition has carried until now, but the highest-ranking valued Holiday Barbies are the models made pre-1995. It's undergone numerous changes, including its name in 1999 (Millennium Princess), 2000 - 2002 (Celebration Princess), 2003 (Winter Fantasy), and now Holiday Barbie (2004 - date). A few models like the 1990 Happy Holiday Barbie and 2000 Celebration Barbie stand out from the rest, and the 1997 Holiday Barbie is amongst them. There's a catch to that increased value, though. According to a seller on Etsy, the first set Mattel made had blue eyes, which was a factory error. So, the company recalled it before sending out the intended brown-eyed model. This means that the factory error 1997 holiday Barbie has a higher value than the corrected version because it's rare. Millennium Barbies Value (1999) (Source: Amazon) Mattel designed the Millennium Barbies to usher in the new Century/Millennium Princess, wearing a silver and Navy ballgown. The blonde-haired doll also has a silver disco ball ornament with a chiffon ribbon that reads - Happy Year 2000 She's the last creation of the 1000s, which gives her a special place amongst her peers. The Millenium Barbie Value (Source: Pinterest) Her shiny gold ball gown and white fur shawl mimicked the splendor and glamour of the new year. Like her counterpart, the Millennium Princess closed in the 1000s; Celebration Barbie opened in the 2000s hence her festive name. In her box, she's also one of the few Holiday Barbies with a keepsake (a white ornament designed with silver snowflakes and the number 2001 Holiday Barbies Value The 2001 Holiday Barbie doesn't have any unique features that increase her value exponentially. It fetches about $9 to $35 which is the average price of regular Holiday Barbies. Where to Buy Collectible Barbie dolls are more in demand than you think; hence you can find them almost everywhere that sells antique and vintage dolls, including online markets. The difficult part is finding a credible retailer and rare Barbie Dolls since there are many old ones. Now that you know how to tell if a Barbie is worth money, here are a few websites you can check for Collectible Barbie Dolls Amazon The number one online marketplace for any and everything. As the pioneer in online shopping, it's no wonder that Amazon sells Vintage Barbie Dolls. There are over 1000 listings on the website and various Barbie to Marilyn Monroe's Iconic The Seven Year Itch breeze-blown white dress. Amazon sells these Collectible Barbies for as low as $50, upwards of $200 on an average. eBay Arguably the biggest online secondary retailer worldwide, eBay also sells collectible Barbies. There are also listings with naked dolls and separate clothes for collectors who want one. eBay Barbies sell between $50 to $10,000 for rare models, including Karl Lagerfeld's Platinum label. Note that the expensive Barbie dolls on eBay are Never Removed from Box pieces. The exception is the original Barbie Doll which is worth more even in its poor state based on its including its collection of collectible Barbies. Although most of the expensive ($100 - $200) listings on the website are bundles, it still has the most independent sellers, which are the rarest models. Most notable is that Etsy's over $1,000 listings are Holiday Barbies, so you know where to look if that's your interest. Mattel Why not go directly to the source? Mattel Creations still offers rare Barbie dolls (especially tributes made after notable celebrities) at affordable prices. You can get a vintage Barbie for as low as $20 and no more than $125. Where to Sell Collectible Barbie doll is worth a couple of thousand dollars, there are a few places you can sell them. However, we advise that you first get an appraisal from professionals to confirm its value. You can search Appraisers near Me on your preferred browser or use any of these accredited appraisers - Dr. Lori, who has a Ph.D. in antique and vintage items appraisel Value My Stuff online, which offers 24-hours results. Some collectors prefer using secondary online marketplaces for sale because of their wider reach. You can try that too. However, there are limitations to using such media. Unless you're an accredited seller with a proven sales track record, it's unlikely that people will trust your account. Also, you may be subjected to paying a percentage of your earnings to the website. An alternative and more reliable option is to employ a notable auction house like Sotheby's or Christie's to be the middleman. After all, the most expensive Barbie Dolls worldwide were sold by auction houses. In 2006, Christie's sold a lady's 1959 Original Barbie for 2,880 pounds, more than double the estimated value. Service Charges may also apply. Barbie Dolls by Years According to watchmojo.com, Barbie's physique and style mirror the fashion of the era she's designed in. Notable time jumps include the 1959 debut, where she had a rolled-up ponytail of blonde hair with arched eyebrows, sideways looking eyes, and red pouty lips. The first two Barbie editions were a blonde and brunette, but in 1961, Mattel launched the redhead model alongside Ken (the Male doll). A year later, the company introduced the Barbie Dreamhouse, a hit in the market - one is sold every 2 minutes per Barbie Media. In the 1970s, she was tan with long straight blonde hair, and her eyes faced forward for the first time (a model that'll continue for years). In the 1980s, her blonde hair frizzed out into a big puff as she started her Rock band, mirroring the disco era. That decade also ushered in the first diverse race models - Afro and Hispanic Barbies. The 1990s introduced the Totally Hair Barbie, giving players a foot-length blonde wavy hair to play with. This new model is recorded as the best-selling regular Barbie, with more than 10 million pieces produced and sold. As the 20th century turned into a new millennium, Barbie became more flexible with "an athletic physique" and a belly button. She also switched her dress into more modern casual outfits separate from her previous formal wear. Barbie broke up with Ken in 2004 as part of her girl power campaign. She has since challenged more gender stereotypes, especially with the career Barbies looked like the year you were born." Final Thoughts Barbie Dolls worth money isn't very many, considering the number of products Mattel releases into the market yearly. However, on the rare occasion you find a unique doll, especially one with intact packaging, get an appraiser because you may be lucky. The value of Barbie dolls still in the box is higher than those without their original boxes or damaged packaging. So, if you're prepping for the future, these are a few things to consider. FAQs Q: What's the most expensive Barbie Ever Sold? A: The 2010 Stefani Canturi Barbie doll designed as part of an auction haul for the Breast Cancer Research Foundation's fundraiser carries a whopping $302,500 value. Legendary fashion designer Stefano Canturi designed the jewelry pieces. Apart from her noble cause adding to her worth, the doll wears expensive jewelry, including an Emerald cut Australian Pink diamond necklace, Each one-carat pink diamond on the chain has a three-carat white diamond enclosing its worth. Her hair is platinum blonde, while her lips are bright red with a dark beauty mark on the top left corner. O: What Online Resources are available? A: You can check online Price Guides like this one or compare sold values on auction sites like Christie's, 1stDibs, and Sotheby's sells pictures of the vintage dolls as photographed by David Levinthal. If you don't like online resources, you can buy a price guide book via Amazon Books like Warman's Barbie Doll Field Guide: Value and Identification, 2003. However, it's best to use online quides because they contain updated prices, unlike paperbacks with old lists. Long before the movie "Barbie" took over the world, Barbie Doll Field Guide: Value and Identification, 2003. However, it's best to use online quides because they contain updated prices, unlike paperbacks with old lists. have transcended decades. The vintage doll is part of one of the biggest brands imaginable, and her roots run deep, with some dolls selling for several thousand dollars each. Check out some of the most expensive vintage Barbie dolls you can buy today. 1. Original Barbie (1959) dollsgalore 1954 / ebayHighest listing price on eBay: $16,000In 1959, Ruth Handler — co-founder of the toy giant Mattel — was watching her daughter, barbie doll (named after her daughter, barbie doll wore a black-and-white striped swimsuit, had red lips, and sported a fluffy, curled hairdo reminiscent of the late '50s. While you could buy the original Barbie for just $3 at her debut, you can now expect to pay several thousand for a well-preserved doll. The highest price that O.G. Barbs has gone for is a whopping $27,450, although the most expensive one on eBay right now is a slightly more modest $16,000 — still a far cry from $3.2. Color Magic Barbie (1966)Mom's Xtra Cash / ebayHighest listing price on eBay: $3,500If you found yourself sick of all the blonde Barbies in 1966, the Color Change Barbie was the answer. With a little water, her hair and bathing suit changed colors. Of course, kids weren't supposed to just dunk her in their bubble bath all willy-nilly. This doll came with a sponge applicator, allowing Barbie fans to play color scientist in a careful, controlled manner. Her ability to go from dark brown hair back to blond hair set unrealistic expectations from hairdressers for decades to come.3. Midnight Tuxedo Barbie (2001)demeysno1fan / ebayHighest listing price on eBay: $685Released as part of the Barbie Collector Club Exclusives, the Midnight Tuxedo Barbie screams luxury. The top part of her dress resembled a tuxedo, which gives way into a gorgeous black evening gown, complemented by jewelry, a silky pocketbook, and a black faux fur stole. She was grace. She was a limited edition. And now, she's expensive.4. Pink Jubilee Barbie (1989) frappe8410 / ebayHighest listing price on eBay: $1,900Look at that hair! 1989 brought us a Barbie of '89 (she had a sister born in 1987, too) was created to celebrate the original Barbie's 30th anniversary (birthday?). Instead of hitting store shelves, this lovely lady in a flashy silver gown was given exclusively to those who attended the invitation-only celebration at Lincoln Center. Now that's what we call party swag! This Barbie doll's value is undoubtedly driven by her exclusivity and rarity, although we're sure the 'do has something to do with it, too.5. Pink Splendor Barbie (1997)innylya2013 / ebayHighest listing price on eBay: $2,000We've never owned a dress half as elaborate as Pink Splendor Barbie's sprawling, intricate, lace-laden pink gown. This limited-edition Barbie was decked out in all the bells and whistles, from glitter and satin to bows and roses. Every detail of the gown led up to her stacked up-do, which had to be extravagant to stand up against the pink gown. Only 10,000 of these dolls were made worldwide, landing them on the rarer side.6. Chicago Cubs Fan Barbie (2000)funkdbyjc / ebayHighest listing price on eBay: $1,1000n August 1, 2000, Wrigley Field hosted Barbie Day during a Chicago Cubs versus Colorado Rockies game. To commemorate the occasion, a special edition Barbie was released. She was a Cubs fan Barbie, of course, complete with the pinstriped top, baseball cap, and hairbrush in case things got rowdy in the stands. 7. Totally Hair Barbie (1992)mmmdoll / ebayHighest listing price on eBay: $500And here we thought Pink Jubilee Barbie's hair was impressive.
The appropriately named Totally Hair Barbie's hair reached all the way to her toes and became Barbie's best-selling doll of all time. She even holds a record for the longest successful toy sale, stretching her reign from 1992 to 1995. In later years, she inspired other Totally Hair dolls, including styling heads, which are still a popular toy today.8.
Enchanted Evening Barbie (1996) brycekno / ebayHighest listing price on eBay: $1,500If the Enchanted Evening Barbie from the late '90s gives you '60s vibes, it's because her look is a reproduction from one of Barbie's most popular fashions in 1961. From the pink satin and opera length gloves to the white faux fur and perfectly coiffed blonde hair, this version is the quintessential Barbie doll, adding to its value.9. Marie Antoinette Barbie (2003) spitfire 1977 / ebayHighest listing price on eBay: $3,000Released in 2003 as part of Barbie's Women in Royalty series, Marie Antoinette Barbie marie's extravagant fashion and a handful of dainty porcelain roses, this doll is among Barbie's most luxurious variations with a present-day price tag to match.10. Celebration Holiday Barbie Special Edition (2000)brizun56 / ebayHighest listing price tag to match.10. Celebration Holiday Barbie's most luxurious variations with a present-day price tag to match.10. Celebration Holiday Barbie's most luxurious variations with a present-day price tag to match.10. were prepping for the end of the world, preparing to chuck your computer out the window because you thought it wasn't going to work anymore, or celebration Barbie Doll was a huge deal. Marking the momentous occasion, Barbie tapped in, releasing the Celebration Barbie Doll decked out in a fancy gold gown and holding a sparkly ornament with a "2000" scribed on it.
```